

On Labor Day weekend, your child's class created a poster about God's love for us and the importance of sharing that love with others. Now, we want them to focus on listening to the direction God is placing in their individual hearts.

We know that we serve a God that has a heart for the lost, he cares for the poor, the oppressed, orphans and widows. He calls us to show mercy and compassion to one another.

Poster Instructions

1. Help your child discuss the following questions. Who do I think God would like for me to help? This can be locally or world-wide. What if money were no object? Now imagine what God can do, remembering he can do far more than we could ever ask or imagine.
2. How can God use me to make this happen?
3. On the front of your poster write who you want to help and how God wants you to help them. You can draw, color, or paint to express your thoughts. Be creative and have fun, this is not a contest.
4. On the back of your poster please write your name and grade level.
5. You may use any art supplies to decorate your poster. They will be hung on the wall, if you glue decorations on they need to be light-weight.

I want YOU, the parent/guardian, to be a part of this opportunity to discuss our limitless God with your child(ren). Join the fun and return your posters by Sunday, September 22nd.
